Attention Shutterbugs:

Did your child catch the big fish at the lake this weekend or maybe you learned a new maneuver on the wake-board? If so, we want to see the pictures to prove it!

The Louisville District Corps of Engineers wants to see your great vacation photos. To submit a photo from your last visit to a Corps Lake simply send your entry to katelyn.c.newton@usace.army.mil by July 31, 2010. All photos should be high-quality and at least 300 dpi. Please include a short description of the photo, location and photographer's name.

The grand prize winner of the contest will have his or her photo featured in the 2011 Louisville District Calendar. The winner will be announced on the district's facebook fan page on Aug. 4. The first and second runners-up and honorable mentions will be posted in a Louisville District photo album on Flickr.

Submitted photos will become the property of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and may be used in publications, including website entries, without payment or any other consideration.

Be safe near the water; wear your life jacket.
